Lubbock ISD, Jay Gordon Rm

Our theme this year is How are the Children? It comes from a pastor's sermon to his congregation years ago — but still so relevant where he asks what if we started off every meeting, city council meeting, etc. by asking the question How are the Children? We look at the statistics and numbers but behind every one of those is a child. And so many still go unreported so there is never an investigation, never help for that child. We are still right up there in the top 3 areas of the state for abuse/neglect and are family violence rate is staggering. The perpetrators remain in majority the parents so if we don't continue to work with the parents - we will continue to see the effects of that.
