This award is given to

TINA PATRICK

Lubbock County would like to recognize Tina Patrick for her exceptional service to the citizens of Lubbock County from 2017 to present. Tina Patrick has distinguished herself as the Executive Assistant for the Lubbock Private Defenders Office. During this time she's assisted the Chief Defender and Executive Director in managing daily operations critical to indigent defense. Tina's exemplary professionalism and attention to detail ensures hundreds of contractual obligations are met weekly. Her innovative approach in social working and client advocacy has enabled the LPDO to continually make strides for the future of indigent defense. Additionally, Tina volunteered to administer the LPDO Social Worker internship program at Texas Tech. By doing so she developed a highly revered internship opportunity aimed at the professional development of the social worker. Prior to this, Tina Patrick established herself as a forensic mental health case manager. In this role she held a full caseload of special needs client facing criminal charges. Tina's keen ability to advocate on behalf of her clients has helped LPDO establish firm community ties critical to successful case mitigation. Tina's dedication to her clients and community has contributed to the on-going enhancement of Lubbock County's indigent defense model. Her polished efforts and selfless contribution to Lubbock County are the benchmark for other managed assigned counsel offices. Tina's dedication to LPDO's mission will continue to deliver un-matched service to the citizens of Lubbock County and the criminal justice system.
